Tile Roof Protection

RidgeSeal™ is a self-adhering, superior waterproofing barrier for use when installing concrete, clay, and synthetic hip and ridge tiles. It eliminates costly mortar applications to critical hip and ridge areas where blowing rain can enter.

The superb flexibility makes installation proceed quickly, while the self-sealing properties create an excellent weather and insect barrier. RidgeSeal's strength, composition and durable UV-resistant surface allows exposure for up to six months before installing the final roofing surface.

RidgeSeal utilizes a specialized rubberized asphalt adhesive system that self-seals around common roofing fasteners. This unique formula will not crack or dry out giving you maximum waterproofing protection. Be sure to specify RidgeSeal on your next tile roofing project.
